UGANDA AGRITECH

At 241,038 km², Uganda is the 9th largest country in the East Africa region. It is therefore impressive that it is home to almost half of East Africa's arable land. Agriculture is the core sector of the Ugandan economy and the main employer. This sector will be the key determinant in the country's efforts to reduce poverty and attain economic growth in the immediate years. Uganda has one of the fastest population growth rates of around 3.3%, and this itself is the principal driver for the increase in the consumption of crops in Uganda.

GRAIN & SEEDS, RICE

The Uganda grains market is projected to register a CAGR of 4.3% during the forecast period, 2022-2027.

Grains grown in Uganda include maize, millets, sorghum, rice, and wheat. They play a prominent role in increasing the income of smallholder farmers and the national economy. The growing demand for grains, an increase in regional exports to East Africa, and favorable government policies supporting grain production are some of the factors driving the market growth.

Rice is ranked 4th (out of 12 crops) in Uganda's Agricultural Strategic Plan (ASSP) after cotton, coffee, and maize as a strategic crop for improving household food and income security in Uganda. In terms of production, rice is the second most important cereal after maize. Uganda is still a net importer of rice, yet local consumption is growing fast.
